ATLANTA, Jan. 18, 2022 /PRNewswire/ -- CryoLife, Inc. (NYSE: CRY), a leading cardiac and vascular surgery company focused on aortic disease, announced today that it was renaming and rebranding itself to Artivion, Inc., effective immediately. Derived from the words "aorta", "innovation", and "vision", the company's new name and brand reflect its evolution to focus on providing innovative technologies to surgeons who treat patients with aortic disease. In conjunction with these changes, effective January 24, 2022, the company will also change its ticker symbol on the New York Stock Exchange to "AORT" from "CRY."

"Through a combination of legacy products and strategic acquisitions and divestitures over the last five years, we have transformed from a tissue and adhesives focused company to one with a premier portfolio of aortic products," said Pat Mackin, Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of Artivion. "Today marks an important milestone for our company. We look forward to embarking on our next chapter as a leader in developing simple, elegant solutions to address cardiac and vascular surgeons' most difficult clinical challenges in treating patients with aortic disease."

Artivion will discuss its business, its strategy, and the rebrand at an Investor & Analyst Day on March 23, 2022, in New York City. Details of the event will be provided at a later date.
